

iWay Software enables online, real-time, and batch integration of information assets, internal business processes, and external business partners all from a single platform.

Business Process Automation

BPA automates key processes across the enterprise.

A Comprehensive Framework for End-to-End Process Automation

Manual business activities are cumbersome, time-consuming, error-prone, and can place a huge strain on both human and financial resources. By automating these processes your company can boost productivity, increase reliability, and most importantly, reduce overhead.

Process automation can also significantly improve agility, particularly in global organizations where the execution of key activities can often span disjointed teams and disparate systems located across multiple countries. This greater flexibility will empower your business to more rapidly respond to evolving customer demands and changing market conditions.

Without the right tools in place, the automation of key processes will be fragmented and inconsistent at best and your company is likely to realize little or no advantage. A solid infrastructure built on innovative technologies is needed to enhance vital business workflows and activities across your enterprise.

The iWay BPA Suite

The iWay BPA suite is today's most powerful and complete business process automation (BPA) solution. This single, fully integrated platform will provide your organization with all the cutting-edge capabilities it needs to automate key processes and activities across the entire company. BPA will help you to enhance vital operations, increase staff productivity, and reduce expenses. It also allows you to avoid the pitfalls associated with piecing together multiple tools and technologies from different vendors, which translates into a quicker return on investment (ROI) and lower total cost of ownership (TCO).

With iWay BPA, businesses can:

- Automate mission-critical processes from start to finish
- Achieve complete visibility into vital activities by monitoring them in real time
- Enable fast, secure messaging across and beyond the enterprise
- Transform any existing application, legacy database, or transaction into fully reusable services, for rapid process composition
- Share processes with suppliers, customers, and other business partners through integrated business-to-business capabilities
- Adhere to all key standards including BPEL, BPEL4People, WS-I, and WS-Human Task

Integrated, End-to-End Activity Monitoring

The iWay BPA suite also includes fully integrated, end-to-end monitoring of all processes. This provides complete, unhindered visibility into process execution, ensuring full adherence to all internal and external standards, and allowing for the immediate identification and correction of bottlenecks or inefficiencies.

Maximum Openness and Flexibility

The iWay BPA suite is an open, flexible, and configurable solution that works seamlessly with any platform, portal, application, or legacy system. Workflows created with the iWay BPA suite can consume information from virtually any source, in any format, including data from ERP, CRM, and other applications, as well as files, messages, documents, and other unstructured business content.

Today's Most Powerful Integration Platform

Built on a single, powerful foundation made up of the patented, market-leading iWay Universal Adapter Framework (which includes connections to more than 300 data sources) and the iWay Integration Engine (an intuitive and graphical integration server), the iWay BPA suite empowers you with the ability to seamlessly link all your information assets and rapidly assemble integration from pre-built components – with absolutely no manual coding required.

The same engine that runs the iWay BPA suite can be extended to support B2B, B2B2A, or enterprise information management so your investment is fully protected and you've got a solid foundation for growth – now and in the future.
